

Introduction

www.tams.asn.au

The Tasmanian Association of Municipal Supervisors Inc. (TAMS) is an incorporated body that has been structured to provide members with a forum for professional networking and fellowship, as well as opportunities for the exchange of ideas, information and technology. The Association allows members to advance their education through the Annual Conference, as well as the opportunity to participate in work exchanges within Australia, an International Study Award and the Lance Holmes Awards.

The National Works Officers Association is now networked nationally, and it is encouraged that you to take advantage of our interstate connections, as we work together for the professional development of all our members.

Chris Monaghan

President TAMS and National Committee Member

Email address: tams@centralcoast.tas.gov.au

Aims and Objectives

The aims and objectives of the Association are:

- to provide a central organisation of supervisors associated with Local Government and related organisations and to promote co-operation, mutual assistance and good fellowship between them and throughout Local Government.
- To arrange, convene and hold conferences and regional meetings as may be considered necessary by the Association from time to time for discussing subjects relating to Local Government.
- To print and distribute to its members , papers especially prepared for the Association and any records, extracts and abstracts relating to the Association
- To have a representative from each Council as members